What is #Hayden50?

At 50 years old, Hayden Library is among the most iconic and beloved buildings on Arizona State University’s Tempe campus. Its rich history, beginning in 1966, has played a vital role in the university’s growth over the course of five decades, and today Hayden receives an average of 10,000 visitors each day. #Hayden50 is both a tribute to the library’s 50-year history as well as a look ahead to its future, as the library prepares to undergo a major renovation set to begin in 2017. Through a complete reimagining of space, resources and services, Hayden will soon stand as a symbol of a new library for the digital age and at the center of a New American University demanding greater access to research, knowledge and innovation than ever before. The following pages offer up a paper tour through the rooms, stacks and stairwells of Hayden Library, as it’s been known for the last 50 years. Enjoy and explore the varied patterns and shapes of Hayden, in vivid color, and share your work with the world using hashtag #Hayden50.
